

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The lounge is constructed of a frame and a fabric panel that is stretched across the frame. The frame includes a pair of leg assemblies that are pivotal between an extended position and a collapsed position in which the leg assemblies are in folded-over relation to each other. The frame is made of a lightweight construction to be readily carried by one person.